

Email Security and Data Protection

Email encryption, data loss prevention, anti-malware and spam protection

- ▶ Meet all your needs with one license and one budget
- ▶ Protect sensitive data with integrated encryption
- ▶ Prevent information loss with DLP that we configure for you
- ▶ Block the latest spam, malware, and evolving zero-day threats
- ▶ Deploy your choice of secure mail gateway or message server solution in hardware, software, or virtual form factors
- ▶ Scale to process hundreds of thousands of messages daily
- ▶ Never deal with updates or upgrades again
- ▶ Get support any time

This single license gives you a lot more for your anti-spam budget. Get the email encryption and data loss prevention (DLP) that you need to comply with data protection and privacy laws. And, you get protection from the latest threats and spam campaigns. We make it easy and affordable to have the most complete security for your email, both at your network gateway and on your mail servers.

What you get:

- Protects sensitive data with automatic email encryption
- Reduces the risk of data loss with pre-packaged DLP definitions
- Blocks known and zero-day threats with our proven antivirus engine
- Stops more than 99% of spam — no complex configuration required
- Offers you email encryption, DLP, anti-malware and anti-spam in one license
- Saves time with easy configuration, management and reporting tools
- Choose the form-factor that fits you best: hardware, software or virtual
- Cluster or scale your solution to meet the most demanding message environments
- Includes automatic upgrades, 24-hour technical support and a three-year, advance replacement hardware warranty

Secure your messaging – effectively and simply

Encrypt sensitive emails Our Email Appliances include our new patent-pending SPX Encryption. Regulatory compliance and policy based encryption has never been easier. There's no software to install and it works seamlessly with DLP to automatically protect your data.

Prevent data loss You get content-aware data loss prevention with hundreds of included sensitive data definitions. And we're constantly updating them at no charge to you. You'll have an effective policy up and running in just a few clicks. And, consistent policy is a snap because you get the same DLP across endpoint and gateway.

Block threats You'll also eliminate known and unknown zero-day threats from your email. We stop previously unseen threats by analyzing their behaviour before they have a chance to run.

Stop spam We block more than 99% of spam using a variety of techniques. Our Sender Genotype technology stops most spam based on the reputation of the sender alone. Live Anti-Spam catches the rest using our cloud service, leaving your inboxes and junk folders spam free.

The right tool for the right job

Have you ever wondered if you're better off with gateway or mail server protection? We say you need both, for good reasons.

Gateway and mail server protection Choose our email appliances to protect your sensitive data and block incoming spam before it hits your mail servers. Combine this with protection on your Exchange or Domino server and be confident that your internal email isn't distributing malware or nasty content as well.

Having Gateway and mail server protection doesn't have to cost more — pair one of our secure mail gateway products with one of our mail server products in the same license.

Secure Mail Gateway Products

Hardware Appliances Our robust, high-performance Email Appliances provide complete protection with less effort. We monitor our appliances remotely and automate most day-to-day maintenance tasks for you. Choose from four different hardware appliance models, with clustering support for added performance and uptime.

Virtual Appliances We now offer the Sophos Managed Appliance experience for virtualized environments. You get exactly the same great capabilities as our hardware appliances. Our virtual appliances come in a standard OVF image, optimized for VMware virtual servers. You'll need only minutes to download and install them. Our Virtual Appliances make it easy for your organization to stay secure, while you get all the savings and flexibility that come with virtualization.

PureMessage for UNIX We also have a carrier-grade open architecture mail security platform. It's a powerful, scalable and highly configurable software gateway solution. If you manage messaging security for a very large enterprise organization, higher education institution or service provider and want the best in flexibility, PureMessage for UNIX is for you.

Mail Server Products

PureMessage for Microsoft Exchange Secure your Windows SMTP gateways and Microsoft Exchange message servers. PureMessage for Microsoft Exchange is highly scalable and fully integrates with Active Directory. You'll set up content rules and apply them to inbound, outbound and internal mail across multiple servers quickly and easily.

PureMessage for Lotus Domino (sold separately) We've designed email protection specifically for your Lotus Domino infrastructure. You get anti-malware, anti-spam, and content control for inbound, outbound and internal email traveling through your Domino databases and mailboxes. And management and configuration is easy with a central Lotus Notes-based console.
